

They can generate estimates and invoices for clients, track job costing, and monitor the profitability of each project.